RAISE FUNDS FOR NEW CHURCH AT MILLBURN

New Edifice Will Replace One Destroyed by Fire

Plans for the rebuilding of the church at Millburn which was recently destroyed by fire are progressing nicely. At a meeting held a few days ago, the preliminary financial canvass was announced as highly successful, according to members of the finance committee. Some work remains to be done although a fairly thorough canvass has already been made in the community. It was stated.

Since this was an old and well established church (organized in 1841) the matter of Memorial gifts will be given due consideration. Already a start has been made. A gentleman outside the community last week called on some of the Millburn people and voluntarily offered a substantial subscription in memory of his wife's father who was for many years interested in the Millburn Church and the Millburn Mutual Insurance Company.

Disaster Came in Difficult Year.

It is believed by members of the Millburn congregation that there are others who would like to make a contribution as a memorial to some relative or friend. Many descendants of the charter and early members are still living in the county.

"This disaster could not have come at a worse time," a member of the committee said, "after five years of the depression, topped off by this last year of drought which made the farmers suffer worse than any one else, these faithful people are subscribing not only generously by sacrificially. Everybody—even those who do not attend regularly—feels the need of a church in this place. The Millburn church has for years been noted for its hospitality. And the Millburn people are jealous of its good name and commendable record. They want to foster this spirit by building the finest kind of a church they can, one worthy and well equipped to meet the needs of a modern church program."

Memorials Destroyed.

It was extremely unfortunate that the most beautiful memorial windows installed two years ago by Mrs. Janie Stewart of Waukegan in memory of her husband, W. B. Stewart, and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Strang, were largely destroyed. During the fire a heroic effort was made to save them, and with the flames crackling through the roof, and the steeple toppling, the young men succeeded in salvaging two sashes.

Friends of the church outside the community who may be interested in making a contribution may communicate with any members of the Finance Committee, namely, George White, Miss Vivian Bonner, Mrs. E. A. Martin, Mrs. Eva Edwards Ailing, Emmett W. King, and A. H. Piersdorf.

Any such gifts will be carefully recorded upon the church records and an announcement will be made concerning same at a fitting opportunity. Mrs. Eva E. Ailing of Wadsworth, committee member announced today.

ILLINOIS GIRLS VIE FOR STATE HONORS IN ESSAY CONTEST

A 1935 high school essay champion is to be crowned in Illinois!

Miss Mary Jane Kelley of Charleston, 1934 state title winner, must yield her throne to another student of this state who will be selected within the next three months. Miss Kelley, in addition to winning state honors last year was selected as the winner of first place in the central district of thirteen states.

Full details of a contest, which again will be open to high school students enrolled in home economics courses, has just been received by teachers of this village. The contest not only is state-wide but national in scope, it is said. It is sponsored by the live-stock and meat industry through its organization, the National Live Stock and Meat Board. The topics for essays will deal with phases of the subject of meat.

University scholarships will be the goal of students who enter. They will be given the opportunity to compete against girls in other states for sectional and national honors. Last year the national championship went to Miss Anne Oczkewicz of Everett, Washington.

Prominent home economics authorities will select the winners, according to the contest announcement. In a similar event last year, Dr. Louise Stanley, chief of the bureau of home economics of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, was chairman of the judging committee.

Poe Biography Is New Volume at Library

The most recent arrival at the Antioch Public Library is "Israfel." This remarkable book written by Hervey Allen, author of "Anthony Adverse," (which book is also on our shelves), is a biography of that strangest of all American writers, Edgar Allan Poe. Mr. Allen's conscientious study of Poe's bizarre and tragic life has already been hailed as the probable standard of all Poe biographies, so complete is his documentation and research.

In his original preface, Mr. Allen says: "So diverse, so conflicting, and so astoundingly confusing was the life experience of Edgar Allan Poe that, in comparison, the lives of many other men of letters are a simple tale."

This book gives not only a word portrait of the author of "The Raven," unique in its fidelity, but it also gives a glimpse of that much neglected era in American history, the years from 1820 to 1850. We look back through the mist of a century to the America of Poe, Longfellow, Hawthorne, and Lowell. With the tragic and complex life of Poe woven into the foreground, this book is truly fascinating.

The library is open from 3:00 to 5:30 P. M., on Monday, Wednesday and Friday.

SCOUT WEEK TO REFLECT GREAT INTEREST IN YOUTH

Antioch to Have Part in a Nationwide Celebration of 25th Anniversary

In the interest of the Boy Scout Movement and as a part of the nationwide celebration of the Silver Jubilee of the organization of the movement, a mass meeting is being planned to be held in the Antioch high school gymnasium, Tuesday, Feb. 12, which all residents of the community are invited to attend. The meeting will begin at 8:00 o'clock, and everyone interested in the Scouting movement, whether for boys or girls, is urged to be present.

The week of February 8-14 will be known as Boy Scout week and Scouts all over America are asked to co-operate in the celebration of the 25th anniversary of the organization in America.

The Executive of the North Shore Area will be present and a crack-patrol from the Council is also invited to demonstrate the principles of the scouting game. A round-table or forum will be conducted to give opportunity for questions on Scouting.

The forthcoming National Boy Scout Jamboree, to be held in Washington, D. C., August 21 to 30, will not only be the greatest outdoor boy event in the history of America, but will demonstrate to the American public for the first time the combined camping experience of the organization over a period of years, in the largest Camp ever set up in this country by a non-military organization.

Scouting is more than a movement or an institution, local leaders have pointed out. To the boy it is a game and is the outgrowth of a desire to give boys a chance to get acquainted with the out-of-doors under trained leadership, men who are interested in boys as well as nature. Though organized but twenty-five years ago the movement today embraces over a half-million Scouts and officials with over 40,000 Scoutmasters and Assistant Scoutmasters. It is a non-denominational movement and has been adopted by Protestant and Catholic churches as official programs, with Clubs, Lodges, Unions and other organizations on every hand hastening to adopt its program.

Scouts to Be Guests at Antioch Theatre Tonight

Members of Antioch Scout troops will be guests tonight at the Antioch Theatre. At the invitation of Manager F. B. Swanson the Scouts will be admitted free to see the picture "Bulldog Drummond."

yet the movement has only begun. Literally thousands of boys, 12 years of age and older, stand waiting to enter Scouting. Millions of boys in the United States have not entered Scouting because of the lack of opportunity, lack of understanding, lack of co-operation on the part of parents who do not realize the value of the movement to boys, and shortage of qualified leaders to direct the activities of local troops.

A Bird's-Eye View of Scouting.

The Scout Oath and Law reveal the spirit of Scouting. The Scout is expected and trained to "BE PREPARED" and daily to "DO A GOOD TURN." Twelve of the finest character stones of life are taught through companionship between leader and boy. Deeds are valued above words. It builds character through habit and citizenship through service. It learns through doing. Life in the out-of-doors ennobles, deepens, and enriches boy life. Although Scouting is non-sectarian yet through its ideals it teaches the boy to discover God, and in response to this discovery, the boy pledges allegiance to the service of God, and the brotherhood of Man.

Scouting does not destroy the natural instincts of the boy, but builds its program around and upon those natural tendencies, directs and ennobles the gang-spirit and thus builds better boys through influences and ideals which operate from within.

NEWS LAUNCHES NEW SYSTEM WITH SUCCESS

Prompt Delivery Results in Big Increase in Subscribers

The new distribution system inaugurated last Thursday by the Antioch News whereby the papers are taken to the homes of subscribers in Antioch and Lake Villa proved to be one of the most successful moves ever undertaken by this newspaper. Dozens of messages have been received at the office commenting favorably on the plan and expressing appreciation of readers in receiving their weekly papers on the day of publication.

Not only is the system a success from the reader standpoint, but merchants are quick to understand the benefit in having their advertisements in the hands of their patrons a day earlier.

Delivery boys co-operated with enthusiasm and there were very few reports of delivery failures.

Many New Readers.

Another indication of the popularity of the idea is the scores of new subscriptions received since last Thursday when a complete coverage of the two villages was made and cards attached to the sample copies left at the home of non-subscribers telling how they could have the paper delivered weekly. It was asked that those desiring the paper delivered so indicate by signing and hanging the card on the doorknob, where the boys could pick them up the following morning.

This process is being repeated this week for the benefit of those who did not sign the cards last week. All that is necessary to secure the delivery of the Antioch News every Thursday evening is to follow the instructions on the card.

Seeks Complete Coverage.

The goal, which bids fair to be reached, is complete coverage of the two villages, and to do this it is made as easy as possible to become a regular subscriber. Simply sign the card and notify the carrier boy on your route to start delivery and at the end of five weeks he will call and collect 15 cents for the five issues delivered. This represents the entire cost to the subscriber. There is nothing else to pay.

All subscribers who are paid in advance will be given full credit under the delivery rate and the carrier will not start collections until the expiration date.

You will be welcomed among the ranks of our regular readers and you will enjoy the weekly visits of the Antioch News, your home newspaper.

P.T.A. TO OBSERVE FOUNDERS DAY AT FEBRUARY MEETING

Past presidents, other past officers and members of the Antioch Parent-Teachers' Association are to receive a special invitation to attend the February meeting to be held at the grade school Monday night, when a special program in honor of the founding of the national organization will be given, and a part of the program will be given over to a ceremony in honor of past presidents of the local association.

The National Congress of Parents and Teachers was organized February 17, 38 years ago, and since that time local associations have been formed in a great many of the school districts throughout the United States.

Also heard in the Monday night program will be the first and second grades who will combine in an operetta, the third and fourth grades will be heard in group singing, and the fifth and sixth grades will each present a playlet.

Refreshments will be served to all who attend, a part of which will be the birthday cake in honor of the 38th year of the P.T.A.

An effort will be made to reach all past officers and members by telephone. Principal Cibaugh said today, but this may be impossible, and Association officials desire it known that all are invited.

WATCH YOUR INSURANCE PROTECTION

Not so long ago real estate values drastically declined, and many people reduced the amount of their fire insurance coverage accordingly. That it is now time to again look policies over is emphasized in this news item from New York:

"The insurance committee of the management division, the Real Estate Board of New York, Inc., recommends all owners of buildings to investigate carefully the amount of fire insurance they are carrying on their buildings in view of the increased cost of material and labor.

"Harry Voorhis, chairman of the insurance committee, stated that a study of the insurable value of a building today in contrast to the summer of 1932 indicates an average increase in replacement cost of approximately 20 per cent.

"From 1929 to early in 1932 a reduction in the amount of fire insurance on buildings was in order. The committee finds a good many owners have not taken cognizance of the gradual increase in values and building costs which have been taking place.

"Therefore it considers it good business for all owners to give attention to this subject without delay. Furthermore, conditions seem to indicate it will be necessary to keep a watch on this subject for some time to come."

This is all the more important in view of an announcement from the National Board of Fire Underwriters which points out that, depression or no depression, the fire engines continue to roll frequently in every section—that fires take their toll every day.

PAY ROLLS DESTROYED BY TAX ROLLS

The moment a tax becomes excessive it limits the activities and opportunities of every business and individual. It strikes a blow at purchasing power and private employment. It is a barrier to investment and industrial development.

The perfect government would be a government which cost nothing—which did not need to levy taxes at all. That Utopian ideal is unobtainable. But we should confine government expense to the cost of governing. We should make governmental operations efficient and non-wasteful. We should keep government out of business projects and confine it to governmental functions as outlined in the constitution. When government goes into business it not only spends tremendous sums of tax money—but inflicts great damage on the individuals and industries with which it competes, while taxing them to maintain that competition as well as to keep government going.

The foregoing principles apply to all units of government, federal, state and local. Political power stems directly from the people. If the people demand economy and retrenchment they will get it—if they permit government extravagance, and sanction government competition in the business field, they will have no one to blame but themselves for high taxes and lost opportunities for individual enterprise.

The great need of the hour is for employment, investment, industrial expansion. Exorbitant taxation is their bitter enemy. A drastic cut in the cost of all government would be the greatest contribution to recovery, for the simple reason that billions now taken by the tax-gatherers would be spent by individuals and industries for a thousand purposes which would create jobs, purchasing power and new taxable wealth.

COLLECTIVE ACTION MEANS PROGRESS

Farmers, when they organize farm cooperatives, are not trying unproven experiments. They are simply following an old and sound precedent.

A great measure of America's industrial progress can be laid to cooperation. The corporation form of business, for example, is pure cooperation—it makes it possible to pool the resources and abilities of many persons in an effort to develop and sell a product or a service to the benefit of all.

Labor, through unions, embraces cooperative activity, which has done much to raise wages, shorten working hours and better conditions.

In the past, only agriculture has lagged behind the trend. The result was disorganization in the best of times—and chaos in times of depression. There was no adequate check on production. There was no successful way of adapting supply and demand. Distribution was wasteful and inefficient. And farm progress and prosperity suffered accordingly.

Great agricultural cooperatives, such as the Dairy-men's League Cooperative Association of New York, have taken the guesswork out of dairying—they are putting it on a sound, scientific basis. They base their activities on proven business principles—and demonstrate that collective action means the farmer's economic salvation. They are sounding the death knell to the old laissez-faire days on the farm—and the modern farmer, who works with and for his co-op, is going forward.

PRACTICAL OLD-AGE INSURANCE

One of the most important phases of the life insurance business during the past decade has been a drop in the percentage of life insurance funds going to the beneficiaries of dead policyholders, accompanied by a rise in the percentage going to living policyholders. Where, twenty years ago, a majority of payments were for death claims, the majority is now for annuity payments, matured endowments, dividends and disability benefits which are collected by the person who bought the policy in the first place and whose thrift and foresight kept it in force.

During 1934, for example, United States life insurance companies distributed the gigantic sum of $2,780,000,000 to policy holders and beneficiaries. Of this total, $1,800,000,000 went to living policyholders, and but $980,000,000 to beneficiaries.

This accentuates the changed aspects of life insurance—the people no longer regard it as being merely a way of protecting dependents in case of the wage-earner's death. They regard it as being a definite investment, as a means of protecting themselves in old age. They use it to educate children, to build estates, to guard against business reverses, and for a multitude of other necessary purposes.

The upshot of this change is the gradual building up of an economic bulwark that will be a great protection against unknown exigencies of the future.

Guesswork and Farm Profits

The farmer with a telephone need not guess or take chances—he can call up and find out. By using his telephone and eliminating guesswork in buying, selling and other important details of farm management, he saves many trips and avoids many of the disadvantages which may threaten the results of his work.

Whatever the farm telephone earns and saves above the small cost of the service is profit to the farmer—profit he otherwise might not make. And, as every farmer knows, this is not the only value of his telephone. For the security of his family and the protection of his property it is priceless.

It was used extensively for about ten years when it was superseded by new models. The first ticker to operate at a fast speed was installed November, 1929, in the Bankers Club of America, on the 38th floor of the Equitable building, 120 Broadway, New York. It printed 500 characters a minute. It operates on only one transmitting wire instead of two as did the old tickers.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Love" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, February 3.

The Golden Text was, "Beloved, if God so loved us, we ought also to love one another" (1 John 4:11).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "The Lord hath appeared of old unto me, saying, Yea, I have loved thee with an everlasting love: therefore with loving-kindness have I drawn thee" (Jeremiah 31:3).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy:

"In divine Science, we have not as much authority for considering God masculine, as we have for considering Him feminine, for Love imparts the clearest idea of Deity.... God is Love. More than this we cannot ask, higher we cannot look, farther we cannot go." (p.p. 517, 6).

Last Sunday began a series of Pre-Lenten sermons dealing with Christian Standards of Life. Next Sunday the theme for the morning worship service will be: "The Home of the Coming Generation."

Other themes of this interesting series will be: The Christian and Law Observance; The Christian and World Peace; Making a Living; Stewardship of Life; Stewardship of Money; The Christian's Use of Leisure.

In an article printed through the courtesy of the Duplex Envelope Company of Richmond, Virginia, recently we found a suggestion on "Inviting Others." It said: "It seems natural for us to invite other people to share our worldly pleasures, or to help them find relief from physical ills. We say, 'Come and join my club; I know you'll enjoy it'; or 'Come with me to see my physician. He can help you,' or try this or that as I have found it has helped me."

How about inviting others to come to Church with you? Have you ever thought how glad people are to be invited to a service of religious worship. The people of this old world are not as disinterested as we sometimes think on the matter of religion if we only take the opportunity of opening up the subject for discussion and invite folk to become interested. The Samaritan woman invited her friends and relatives to come and see and hear the Master who had touched her life so miraculously. They came and were interested and helped. Jesus said to us, "Go and do thou likewise."

Loyal V. Sitter, Minister.

The Wandering Jew

The Wandering Jew was a legendary character who was supposed to have been doomed to wander until the second coming of Christ because he taunted Jesus as he bore the cross. This legend first appeared in a pamphlet supposed to have been printed in Leyden about 1602 and it relates how one Paulus von Elzers had met a Jew, Ahnsnerus, who had declared himself "eternal" and the original Jew punished by Christ. The pamphlet gained wide circulation and led to reports of the Wandering Jew being seen in many places—Pathfinder Magazine.

Royal Neighbors Hold Installation

The Royal Neighbor Installation last Tuesday evening was a very pretty affair and those in charge are to be congratulated on the success of the occasion. Mrs. P. Avery was installing officer and Mrs. S. Barnstable was ceremonial marshal. They were preceded by an escort of six young ladies, Alleen Kapple, Elsie Swanson, Catherine Boehm, Evelyn Fish, Pauline Nader and Jean Cribb. Each officer was presented with a bouquet of flowers which added much to the occasion. Following the installation, a short program was given, consisting of songs by Mrs. Swanson and a recitation by Billy Edinger. Mrs. Swanson, as retiring Oracle, was presented with a Royal Neighbor pin, and Mrs. Doris Britton, as retiring vice-oracle, was presented with a vase. A social time followed and refreshments were served.

The Woman's Club met at Mrs. Daube's Cafe on Tuesday afternoon for its annual birthday luncheon. Following the luncheon, Mrs. Maier presided at the business meeting, and a social afternoon of games was enjoyed after the meeting. The ladies proved themselves very artistic in the wonderful hats they made. Mrs. Valenta and daughter sang three delightful songs.

Mr. and Mrs. Bock have moved into the Williams cottage in Oak Knoll subdivision. They had been living in the old Cribb farmhouse which burned last week. We stated that the building had been totally destroyed, but the outer part is still standing. The owner is considering rebuilding or remodeling.

Miss Madonna Maserson spent Saturday and Sunday with friends in Chicago and Evanston.

J. H. Perry who is employed in Elgin, spent Saturday and Sunday with his family here.

Mrs. B. J. Hooper and Miss Dorothy spent last Thursday in Chicago.

Stroke is Fatal to William Shunk

William Shunk, who has been very ill following a stroke of paralysis a month ago, and who was removed to the hospital on Monday of last week, passed away Saturday. He was born in German on July 21, 1891, and came to America when a young man of 23. He was married to Emma Fern Denning of Shelbyville, Illinois, in Chicago in 1891. Mrs. Shunk was the daughter of a Methodist minister. For some years they lived in Chicago, coming to Lake Villa in 1903, where Mr. Shunk has been employed as a carpenter. For the past twelve years he has been a permanent resident here. His wife passed away in 1928. Mr. Shunk was of a very kindly disposition and he leaves many friends who will miss him greatly. The body is to be held at the Stranz funeral home in Antioch until Saturday of this week when the funeral will be held. He was a member of the Odd Fellows lodge in Chicago and members of that group will attend the funeral. Burial will be in his lot in the Lake Villa cemetery.

The infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Sheehan was baptized at the St. Peter's church in Antioch last Sunday. Miss Louise Sheehan and Lester Hamlin were godparents.

The Ladies' Aid Society is sponsoring a Father-Son banquet at the church on Feb. 22, so you may expect to see ticket sellers very soon. Mrs. Lester Hamlin and sons spent last Thursday and Friday with her parents in Waukegan. Her sister, Miss Agnes Nanta, left Friday for a town near Philadelphia to enter the Holy Child convent there.

William Walker, Jr., oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. William Walker, who live east of town, was hurried to the hospital for an operation for appendicitis Monday evening, and is doing as well as could be expected.

Tony Sciaccaro and Carl Nader, who are with the government camp at Glenview, spent Sunday at their homes here.

This Week in Washington

by RALPH E. CHURCH

Washington, D. C., Feb. 6.—By a margin of 7 votes the Senate rejected the President's proposal that the United States enter the World Court. On Wednesday afternoon, the day the Senate voted, the galleries were packed, with people waiting on the stairs and in the corridors of the Senate side of the Capitol, hoping to be able to obtain a seat to hear the roll call. Associate Justice Owen J. Roberts, of the United States Supreme Court, was seen just inside the door on the floor of the Senate.

While the President may, if he so desires, at any time revive the issue, it is thought that the question of entrance into the World Court will not again be before the Senate for many years. Senator Hiram Johnson, of California, and Senator William E. Borah, of Idaho, (Progressive Republicans) led the opposition, joined by the colorful Huey Long, Democrat, of Louisiana.

At no time, except before the vote was taken, did they feel they could obtain enough to defeat the proposal but when the roll was called 36 Senators voted with them and 52 for the Court. The President lacked 7 votes of the necessary two-thirds required under the Constitution in the ratification of treaties.

There is some speculation as to what the effect of the Administration's defeat in the World Court question will have on the other measures it desires. It is the opinion of some that the opposition will be encouraged.

Moreover, one of the results anticipated from the rejection of the World Court is an increase in the size and quality of the country's national defense. Both the War Department and Navy Department appropriation bills are yet to be considered.

Both the House and Senate passed the bill providing for the continuation of the work of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation for another two years, with liberalizing amendments for the granting of loans. The measure received prompt consideration, as the life of the Corporation would expire on Thursday, Jan. 31st. The House debate was marked by criticism of the Corporation for its failure to grant loans to industry and to assist private business to a greater extent. Representative McLeod, Republican, of Michigan, endeavored to amend the bill on the floor to enable the depositors in closed banks to be paid. He claimed there were 10,000,000 such depositors in the United States and it would mean a boom in business for the funds to be made available to them.

With the disposal of this measure the respective Banking and Currency Committees of the House and Senate will doubtless turn their attention to the Home Owners' Loan Corporation. Except on those applications for loans which had reached the final legal state, the Corporation has not been making loans. Various proposals are pending before the Committees for the raising of additional funds.

The Senate Appropriation Committee is holding hearings on the blank-check appropriation of $4,880,000,000. The bill was rushed through the House under a "Gag-rule," but there is every indication that the Senate is not at all satisfied with making such an appropriation without at least knowing how the money will be spent. The Administration is somewhat concerned over the attitude of Senator Carter Glass, Democrat, of Virginia, Chairman of the Appropriations Committee, who has indicated that he does not favor the bill in the form that it passed the House.

Purple in Snail Shells
In the days of ancient Rome the purple in the shell of certain snails was used in the making of Tyrian purple, a dye reserved for the nobility. The small used this ink to create a smoke screen about itself in time of danger. Other species of snails are known to bear poison glands which enable the snail to eject a stream of poison several inches. The highly ornamental shells of several species are used as umbrella handles.

Races Have Odor
It is quite possible that other races can detect the odor of the white race. Deniker, in his "The Races of Man," refers to the fact that certain travelers have asserted they could recognize a population by its odor. The author admits that some ethnic groups have their specific odor, which gets fainter with scrupulous cleanliness, but never disappears.

Chinese Jews
The only known Chinese Jews have lived in Kailung, China, since 1103 A. D. For several hundred years, they kept their colony apart from the Chinese. Today, however, after numerous generations of intermarriage, the few who are left have almost entirely lost their original racial characteristics.—Collier's Weekly.

Stowing Ship's Canvas
Seventeenth century captains ordered to stow some of the ship's canvas: "Haul down the foretopgallant sail and maintopgallant sail! In with the spritsail! Let go the spritsail topsail sheets! Haul down the clew lines! In with the maintopgallant! Cast off the foretopgallant bow lines!"

Postage Stamps
The post office department says that no postage stamps are legal tender, but all postage stamps since 1861, in an undamaged condition, are good for postage.

Terra Haute, Indiana, on Wednesday with burial at Terra Haute.

The deceased is survived by her husband and son, Cecil Fulghum.

Mrs. Joseph Barnstable, aged 67, died at the home of her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Lyle LaDett Sholliff at Missoula, Monday, January 28. Mrs. Barnstable suffered a paralytic stroke in December and never fully recovered. Funeral services were held at Missoula and the body brought to Wilmot for burial in the family plot at the Wilmot cemetery on Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Barnstable was very well known in the community as the family were residents of the village 25 years ago and often returned for visits with her friends and relatives in the vicinity. She is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Lyle LaDett Sholliff, of Missoula, and one son, Louis Barnstable, of Hamilton, Montana, five grandchildren and one great grandchild.

Union Free High School.
Mukwonago was defeated by the Wilmot basketball team 25-9 on the Wilmot gymnasium floor Friday evening. On Thursday the team goes to Waterford to play. The next home game is with Norris Farms at the local gymnasium on Friday night, February 15. Norris Farms is now leading the Conference and this game will be hotly contested as they won over Wilmot by just one point at their last encounter. The score was 25-24.

Every Monday evening, Marlin M. Schnur, head of the department of Agriculture, is teaching a part time school in agriculture along the lines laid out by the Wisconsin State Vocational schools for young men between the ages of 16 and 30. There are no fees connected with the work and there is still time for others interested in advanced agricultural training to join the twenty young men who are receiving instruction.

Glen Axtell had the misfortune to have his brakes lock while turning the icy corner at Volbrecht's in town Monday morning. His car slid into a post and then a large maple tree. The occupants of the car were not seriously injured. The bumper was torn from the car. A second car of school children slid on the corner and just missed the tree. No sand has been placed on this corner and it is one used a great deal by the school students.

The Junior students have started rehearsals for their class play, "Oh, Professor."

An Army of Goodwill

When members of the Junior Red Cross learned that schoolbooks had been destroyed in the Kentucky floods last August they gave $100 from the National Children's Fund to buy new textbooks for use in the schools. The maximum membership for the Junior Red Cross last year was 7,350,230, an increase over the previous year of more than 250,000. They carry on civic and service programs in their own communities which each year bring comfort and pleasure to thousands of needy and unfortunate people. An international friendship is built up through correspondence with Junior Red Cross members in foreign countries.

To Teach Water Safety
Life saving services offering training in first aid methods for swimmers have been carried on by the Red Cross for two decades. In 20 years, life saving certificates have been awarded to more than a half million people who are interested in water sports. Last year chapters issued 72,503 life saving certificates.

The Red Cross enrolled 3,802,334 members in last year's roll call. Join in the 1934 roll call—Armistice Day to Thanksgiving.

No hope no effort.

THE LAWYER EXPLAINS

By Attorney Bernard J. Juron

ABSTRACTS OF TITLE

The term "Abstract of Title" is commonly used in connection with real estate transactions and, literally means a short statement of the title. Before title companies came into existence and engaged in the business of guaranteeing titles, Abstracts of Title were exclusively used to show the history of a person's title to real estate. There is a decided difference between abstracts and guaranteed titles or guarantee policies. A Guarantee Policy guarantees the title shown in the policy, while an abstract does not, but simply contains the history of the title, and it is up to the owner to have that history or abstract examined by a lawyer to determine whether the title is good or bad. There is a general belief that if the owner of property holds an abstract then his title must be good. This, however, is not true, for the very abstract may show some facts which may have occurred many years ago that will amount to a "flaw" on the title.

As a rule, every Abstract of Title begins with the history of the property by showing an original transfer from the United States Government. The original transfer is usually referred to as a "Patent," and begins the abstract. Every transfer thereafter is shown in an abbreviated form down to the name of the last owner. When an owner of real estate sells the same, he furnishes his Abstract to the purchaser for an examination, to verify the fact that he has a good title, as shown by the Abstract. For that purpose, the Abstract is "brought down to date." By that we mean that the owner has the title company search the records to show if anything appears thereon since the present owner took title, and to determine also whether any judgments have been entered against the property, or other liens or claims. In the next issue we will take up the question of Courts.

RED CROSS AGENCIES SAFEGUARD HEALTH

First Aid, Life Saving, Nursing Care, Promote Health and Safety

Five outstanding services make up the health-conservation program of the American Red Cross, according to the annual report just issued in Washington. These services are first aid and life saving, which together have trained more than a million persons; nursing, with an active enrollment of 36,133 registered nurses; Public Health Nursing, conducted by 750 nurses in 424 chapters last year; and Home Hygiene, which has taught more than 700,000 men and women simple ways of caring for the sick at home.

"The achievements of the Red Cross in public health nursing place it among the leaders in this field," said James L. Fieser, vice chairman in charge of domestic operations. "This service was organized in 1919 to meet needs developed by the World War and the ravages of the flu epidemic which in 1918-1919 took so great a toll of life."

"Since that time Red Cross nursing services have been pioneers in more than one half of the counties in the United States. Many services we established were taken over later by civic, state and federal agencies, and the Red Cross continues to establish services in other new fields. Red Cross nurses made more than a million visits to patients last year, and 629,025 children in schools were inspected."

"Red Cross courses in home hygiene and care of the sick are especially important in times of depression, because they teach families to maintain hygienic conditions in their own homes and to recognize symptoms of illness early enough to prevent serious consequences."

"Our courses in first aid have been instrumental in saving lives of the injured; in safeguarding the accident victim until the physician arrives, and in reducing time lost by workers in factories, mines and other industries. We are also giving the course extensively to police and fire departments throughout the country, and to state highway patrols."

Everyone is invited to join the Red Cross during the annual membership roll call which continues from Armistice Day to Thanksgiving, to have a part in the health program and the other humanitarian services of the Red Cross.

Depressions are but preludes to prosperity.

Meaning of "California"

If the name of the Golden State were reduced to its Spanish interpretation, it is very probable that the aggressive advertising of its climate would be largely nullified, for literally "California" is a combination of two Spanish words meaning "hot furnace." writes G. R. Turner in the Kansas City Times. The Spaniards, who were the first white men to explore the state, gave to it this name because their interest was not in the cool verdant lands of the seacoast, but in the hot arid sections of the interior where it was believed gold was to be found.

Some Great Musicians

Victor Herbert was taken to Germany at the age of seven and all of his musical education was obtained there. John Phillip Sousa, born in Washington, began his musical education in that city at the age of six, under Espita and Benkert; he was a violin soloist at eleven and a teacher of harmony at fifteen.

It Pays to Be Fat!

After studying 2,000 candidates for the R.A.F., a medical officer states that overweight is better than underweight; heavier men can stand prolonged mental and physical stress and are less liable to disease than their slimmer colleagues—Answers Magazine.

"A new standpoint"

DURING the experiences of the past few years, many of those meeting with material reverses have tried to console themselves with the popular theory that economic affairs run in cycles, and that therefore a cycle of hard times must necessarily be succeeded by a cycle of prosperity. A similar thought, expressed under another figure, represents the pendulum of experience alternating between extremes of good and ill, and argues that, because of the recent depression, its next swing must inevitably take the world back to a former period of material plenty. Gradually, however, it is becoming apparent that such a swing is not likely to occur; that conditions may never be just as they were in former years. Abundance is as much a fact today as it ever was, and a normal general sense of well-being must be—being—restored; but ground swept away by the recent financial cataclysm cannot be reoccupied.

In this connection, great significance attaches to a passage which occurs on page 556 of "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy. She says, "Mortal mind must waken to spiritual life before it cares to solve the problem of being," and adds, "but when that awakening comes, existence will be on a new standpoint."

Is not this awakening even now manifest? In almost every nation there is more or less evidence of the unrest that accompanies awakening. Human beings are beginning to shake off the lethargic dream of satisfaction in materiality. A "divine discontent" is stirring in the breasts of some of the world's leaders. An indication of this is that never before were so many thinkers of all shades of opinion engaged in efforts to solve human problems. There seems to be general recognition of the fact that mankind needs to take a new standpoint. A more spiritual sense of being already shows itself in a fuller perception of the brotherhood of man, in the demand for equal rights among all men, and in a clearer understanding that the well-being of one class cannot be secured at the expense of any other class. There would seem to be no longer a "forgotten man"; the humblest now may voice a claim to consideration. Many long-sought objectives, such as shorter hours of work and better pay, improved living conditions, protection for child workers, and so forth, have drawn nearer realization than ever before. Slowly, but as yet imperfectly, wrongs are being righted; justice is being vindicated; compassion is finding expression. Spiritual thinking prevails over material thinking every time the smallest victory is secured for the right.

A beautiful hymn written by Mrs. Eddy includes the following lines (Poems, p. 14):

"Thou wilt bind the stubborn will,
Wound the callous breast,
Make self-righteousness be still,
Break earth's stupid rest."

The simple adjective employed in the last line epitomizes with remarkable clearness the testimony of some who have enjoyed to the full the material luxury the world offers and freely admit that after all it is but a "stupid rest." The breaking of earthly dependencies, however, may sometimes seem to be a painful process, and the average human being, while aspiring to peace on earth, clings contentedly to the things of earth. Only those of deeper religious insight can perceive that only by the relinquishment of a false sense of ease in matter can genuine spiritual peace be attained.

We read in Exodus that "the children of Israel murmured against Moses and Aaron," saying, "We have brought us forth into this wilderness, to kill this whole assembly with hunger." From this we may deduce that they had visioned physical ease and material plenty after escaping from Egypt, whereas they encountered dangers and hardships. This period of discipline, however, supplied them with overwhelming proofs of the omnipotence of Spirit, so that later they declared, "All that the Lord hath said will we do, and be obedient."

Centuries afterward, when their nation was under the Roman yoke, some of the Jews believed that Jesus' mission was to reestablish the Hebrew nation in all its former prestige and glory. But such was not the case. Jesus' sublime life-work and supreme sacrifice were not for the purpose of building or rebuilding a structure of material satisfaction. By example and precept he taught the laws of God, through the understanding of which he dominated matter instead of being dominated by it.

It is not to be inferred that riches are evil in themselves, or that poverty is an advantage, but in experiences, however sharp, which turn one to God and away from subservience to any form of materiality, let none shrink from the effort to prove complete reliance on God. To those who pass through such tests clinging to the truth, the promise remains, "Behold, I send an Angel before thee, to keep thee in the way, and to bring thee into the place which I have prepared."—The Christian Science Monitor.

Valentine Salad

1 calavo
Lettuce
Red Pimento strips
Fruit salad
Cherries
Lemon dressing
Halve the calavo lengthwise, removing seed. Cut flat slice quarter-inch thick, placing it on lettuce leaf. Cut a "V" from the bottom end of each slice and form heart shape with each slice. This automatically makes the original seed cavity also heart-shaped. Border this cavity with strip of red pimento. Fill cavity with fruit salad. Run strip of pimento across calavo to a cherry placed atop fruit salad, to make dart. Serve with sharp lemon dressing. Serves four.

Scotch Wafers
3 cups corn flakes
1 cup flour
1/2 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon sugar
1/4 cup butter
1 egg slightly beaten
Crush the corn flakes well and mix with other dry ingredients. Work the butter well into this mixture, using the hands. Add the egg and spread onto a board. Roll to about one-fourth inch thickness and cut cookies in very small circles or fancy designs. Bake in hot oven, 400 degrees, for about ten minutes. Makes eight dozen 1 1/2 inches in diameter.

Heart Hermits
1/3 cup butter
2/3 cups sugar
1 egg
2 tablespoons milk
1 1/2 cup flour (or more)
1/2 cup bran
1/3 cup raisins
1 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon cloves
1/2 teaspoon mace
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
1/2 teaspoon salt
Cream the butter, add the sugar and eggs and beat well. Add the milk and bran, raisins and flour which has been sifted with the spices, baking powder and salt. Chill, roll thin, cut with heart shaped cutter and bake in a moderate oven 400 degrees. When cakes are cool, they may be frosted with confectioner's sugar frosting. Makes two dozen hermits.

Marguerites.
3 eggs
1 1/2 cups brown sugar
3/4 cup flour
1/2 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
3/4 cup nuts
3/4 cup bran.
Beat eggs slightly and add remaining ingredients in order given. Fill tiny heart shaped tins (buttered) two-thirds full of mixture. Bake in moderate oven, 370 degrees, ten to fifteen minutes. Makes thirty-six small cakes.

Winter Desserts

When days are nippy and sharp you may serve a richer dessert—it will round off the meal and serve as a welcome contrast to the lighter desserts you may have been serving.

Pineapple Maple Tapioca Souffle.
Turn the contents of a No. 2 can of crushed pineapple and 1/2 cup maple syrup into a double boiler and bring to scalding. Add 1/3 cup minute tapioca and cook until transparent. Cool slightly, fold in 3 stiffly beaten egg whites and bake in a slow oven for 20 minutes or until set. Cool. Serve with the following sauce:

Maple Custard.
Beat 2 egg yolks slightly and add 1 1/2 cups diluted evaporated milk and 1/3 cup maple syrup. Cook in double boiler, stirring constantly, until mixture coats a spoon. Cool.

Bread Pudding.
1 cup bread crumbs
2 cups scalded milk
1 tablespoon butter
2 eggs
3 tablespoons sugar
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
Few grains salt
Currant jelly.
Cut soft bread in thin slices, then in small cubes. Pour over it the scalded milk, add butter and let stand 5 to 10 minutes. Beat egg yolks and sugar, salt and vanilla. Combine with bread mixture and turn into greased baking dish. Set in a pan of hot water and bake in a slow oven 45 to 50 minutes or until custard is firm. Cool. Spread with thin layer of currant jelly; cover with meringue made by beating together 2 egg whites and 2 tablespoons of sugar. Brown in a slow oven. Serve hot or cold.

Frances Lee Barton says:

HAVELOCK ELLIS, the writer, remarked that he would rather be praised for his cookery than for his writing. Well, there is a thrill in hearing your family say you're the world's best cook. And it's not always the difficult dishes that are the best—here's a dish that is wonderfully easy to prepare; looks like the creation of a French chef and tastes like... well, just ask the family! It's a heaven-sent gift on Fridays when the family expects fish and you want to give them something just a little different.

Casserole of Salmon
2 tablespoons quick-cooking tapioca; 1/4 teaspoon salt; dash of pepper; dash of paprika; 1 cup flaked canned salmon; 1 cup diced celery; 1 tablespoon minced onion; 1 cup milk; 1 tablespoon melted butter; 6 to 8 unbaked baking powder biscuits, rolled 1/4-inch thick. Combine ingredients in order given. Turn into greased casserole and bake in hot oven (425° F.) 25 minutes, stirring mixture twice during first 10 minutes of baking. Place biscuits on top of salmon mixture after it has baked 10 minutes; return to oven, and bake 13 to 15 minutes longer, or until biscuits are browned. Serves 4.

Washable Papers Now Available for Walls

Waterproof wallpaper that can be washed with soap and water is reported by interior decorators to be boosting sales of this material.

Advantages of a washable wall covering are obviously for the bathroom, kitchen and playroom. But motion picture theatres have discovered its value for lobbies, hallways, and rest rooms, while churches also have found it suitable especially for their social parlors.

Use of this type of wallpaper is not confined, however, to places where washability is a prime consideration. It is available in many attractive patterns, and its long life makes its purchase an economical investment for general use in the home, theatre, church, or elsewhere.

Go To Bed When You Have A Cold

Cold Itself Is Seldom Serious, But It Opens The Door To Other Ills

By Dr. Wilson G. Smillie
Professor of Public Health Administration, Harvard University
School of Public Health

How should we treat a cold? When your nose stops up, and your eyes burn, your head hurts and your face feels hot, you ache all over and your hands and feet feel as heavy as lead, what should you do?

Go home and go to bed, and stay there until your fever is gone and symptoms subside. Take a good hot soak in the bath tub, drink plenty of water, and take only those medicines that your doctor recommends. Remember that a cold itself is seldom a serious matter, but it may be followed by serious consequences, especially if a person does not take good care of himself during the acute stages.

When you have a cold be particularly careful about exposure or chilling of the body surface, such as wet feet, sitting in a cold draft, etc.

Don't Spread Your Cold
Remember that you may give your cold to some one else, so don't be hospitable. Keep away from your family and friends as much as possible; sneeze or cough only in your handkerchief; do not visit or receive visitors.

Cold vaccines will not cure a cold that has already developed, but they are sometimes of real aid in prevention of a cold. Many persons who have suffered seriously from frequent colds have been greatly relieved by vaccines; others have not. The family physician should be consulted in this matter. One thing is certain—to be of any value, cold vaccines must be taken before the season for colds has begun.

Scores of home remedies for colds have been proposed and each has its strong advocates. Most of them do no harm and make the family happy because they are doing something for the patient. Some of these remedies make the patient more comfortable, but there is no real evidence that any of them cure the patient, or even cut short the period of illness.

Office of Sheriff
The office of sheriff dates back to old English times when the "shire reeve" was the king's reeve or steward and over a shire or county.

Steak Perfectly Broiled This Way

Turn but once, if you would accomplish that poem among foods, the perfectly broiled steak, advises Miss Inez S. Willson, home economist. Turning a steak only once is the very last word in broiling.

Not only will your thick, juicy steak be cooked and browned to perfection without numerous flippings and turnings, but the hurried cook needs no longer keep flying back and forth to the broiling oven getting hotter and more flustered with every trip.

Broiling Method.
This new precept in food lore results from the recent discovery that searing to keep in the juices is not well founded. The steak will be just as full of rich juiciness if it is browned well on one side, and then turned to the other to complete the cooking.

Three inches from the broiler flame or element is the proper distance for a steak to keep, and to lessen the danger of the fat catching fire and putting forth a choking smoke screen, the oven door is left slightly ajar.

Salt tends to retard the steak's naturally fine browning capacity, so the proper steak is seasoned just before serving. The steak has enough natural fat to give it an excellent flavor and so it needs no extra sauce to enhance its goodness.

Serve Steak Hot.
A steak broiled in the above manner should reach the table at the height of its goodness, piping hot and puffy brown. Any more casual treatment than being served immediately on a hot platter undermines its success with the diners.

The Monthly Reminder

For breakfast, use seasonable fruits or stewed dried fruits. Introduce corn meal mush, cracked wheat and brown rice to vary the morning cereal. If scrambled eggs are used, combine them with tomatoes, raisins or ham.

Use vegetable soups often. For luncheon, serve scalloped potatoes with sausage, rice with tomatoes au gratin, Welsh Rarebit on toast. Use simple desserts such as floating island, cereal pudding, canned peaches and sponge cake.

The most loving are the most loving.

Cabinet Type Sinks Gain in Popularity

One more step toward compact efficiency in the kitchen can be taken with the installation of one of the several types of kitchen cabinet sinks, developed recently by manufacturers of plumbing fixtures.

Cabinet sinks usually are made with a low back, so they will fit under windows. Drainboards, back and basin in most types are made in one piece, although there are well designed cabinets which permit the drainboards to fit over the sink. A narrow rim, plus a toe recess at the bottom of the cabinet, permit easy access to the basin for washing dishes. Provision also is made for ventilation.

The majority of steel cabinets have a baked enamel finish. Wood cabinets are either enameled or heavily painted in white or in color.

Discoveries About The Laundry

An Ironing Garment
Pin a Turkish towel around the left end of your ironing board. You will come upon many bits of work in the course of an hour's ironing that will repay you for the effort. Initials, laces and heavy seams look a hundred per cent better when ironed over Turkish towels.

Hanging Clothes in Cold Weather.
In cold weather place the clothespins in a pan in the warming oven. When ready to hang out the washing, put the hot clothespins in the clothes-pin bag. Each time you reach for a pin your fingers get warm.

More Even Coloring of Curtains
When washing curtains, put dye or tint right in the washing machine with the soap flakes. They color more evenly this way.

Work for Curtain Stretching
A fork is a great help when stretching curtains to straighten the fringe.

Edison Disliked Decorative

Upon Thomas Edison's second trip to Europe the French Telephone company offered him a decoration which required that he wear a long sash. But the Ohioan flatly refused with the assertion that he couldn't "stand for that." Persuaded by his wife, he did however consent to wear the little red button of the League of Honor. But whenever he saw any American approaching he would slip the button into his pocket for fear, as he said, "they might think I am trying to show off."

Cinnamon Candy and Pineapple Mint Make Gay Jellies for St. Valentine

Cinnamon candies are used to make delicately flavored jelly to give away as gifts on St. Valentine's Day.

WITH the traditional gift season of Christmas out of the way, are you one of the number vaguely uneasy about the dear friends you forgot to remember? St. Valentine's Day is a good excuse for a gesture, even if you didn't forget them, but would like to please your friends again. If you want to surprise them as well, why not give them home made jelly?

What that huge supply you made last summer is all gone? Here's your chance to make some gayly colored jellies, wrapped in colored tissue paper and tied with huge contrasting bows.

What will you make them of, you ask? Fresh fruits have not yet arrived. Well, fresh fruits aren't necessary. With canned pineapple juice as a base, a touch of green vegetable coloring, a bit of mint flavoring, you will have a pineapple-mint jelly any experienced jelly-maker would envy. Would you like a red jelly? There's a delicious one made of cinnamon candy.

Canned Pineapple Mint Jelly
2 cups (1 lb.) syrup from canned pineapple
1 cup (4 oz.) spearmint leaves and stems, packed
2 1/2 cups (1 1/4 lb.) sugar

Green coloring
1/2 bottle fruit pectin
Drain syrup from canned pineapple. Wash spearmint. Do not remove leaves from stems. Place in 3-quart saucepan and press with wooden potato masher or glass.
Measure sugar and pineapple syrup into saucepan and mix with mint. Place over hottest fire, and while mixture is coming to a boil add coloring to give desired shade. Use coloring which fruit acids do not fade. As soon as mixture boils, add bottled fruit pectin, stirring constantly. Then bring to a full rolling boil and boil hard 15 minutes. Remove from fire; remove mint leaves and stems. Skim, pour quickly. To remove all traces of mint leaves, pour hot jelly through fine sieve into glasses. Paraffin hot jelly at once. Makes about 5 glasses (6 fluid ounces each).

Cinnamon Candy Jelly
5 1/2 cups (2 1/2 lb.) sugar
3 cups (1 1/4 lb.) water
1/2 pound red cinnamon candies
1 bottle fruit pectin

Measure sugar and water into large saucepan and mix. Add cinnamon candies. Bring to a boil over hottest fire and at once add bottled fruit pectin, stirring constantly. Then bring to a full rolling boil and boil hard 15 minutes. Remove from fire, skim, pour quickly. Paraffin hot jelly at once. Makes about 5 glasses (6 fluid ounces each).

Insulation Blown in Between the Walls

An effective way of lowering fuel bills when modernizing a building is to remove a piece of the siding at the ceiling height of each story and then fill up the hollow spaces in the walls by blowing rock wool into them through a pneumatic hose.

This light weight rock material also provides fire protection.

Game Thursday Night

Warren defeated Antioch Thursday night 13-11 before an overflow crowd. Barrington lost to Libertyville 21-19; so the evening was packed with thrills.

The Sequoits held a 9-6 advantage at halftime holding all the Warren team but Zimmerman, the captain, scoreless. The second half was featured by great defensive play on both sides. With a minute to go the Blue Devils seemed on the verge of victory when Antioch in a last desperate rally pushed three baskets through the hoop which did not count because Warren fouled the Antioch shooter before he shot each time. The players were unable to hear the whistle, signifying that play had stopped.

Despite their defeat the locals gave an excellent account of themselves and much can be said to their credit. Steffenburg with two baskets and three free throws led the scoring. Bishop did a good job of captaining his team and excellent defensive games were played by Simpson and Grandall.

Libertyville displayed unusual form in holding Latta, big Barrington center, to a mere minimum of his usual number of points.

The "Keystone State"
On the Fourth of July, 1774, the Continental congress convened in Philadelphia to vote upon adoption of the Declaration of Independence and thus decide whether the thirteen colonies should secede from the British empire. Before the Pennsylvania delegation arrived, notes G. R. Turner in the Kansas City Times, twelve states had voted, with the result that six were in favor of independence and six were opposed to separation from the mother country. When the Pennsylvanians came in, John Morton cast the deciding vote for independence. Thus Pennsylvania, by its vote, decided the great issue and rightly earned the popular name of "the Keystone State."

First Strike in This Country

TEETH

HEALTH

By Dr. J. M. WISAN

CRYSTAL GAZING

WHAT does the future hold for us in dental health?

While the actual cause of dental caries has not as yet been ascertained and while we have failed to find the real cause of "pyorrhea," nevertheless it does seem as though the children of the next generation will show improved dental conditions.

Certainly the schools, with their improved health education technique, will improve the health habits and attitudes of those who will be the future fathers and mothers. This can not help but improve future prenatal dietaries and result in children being born with healthier teeth and with fewer dental defects.

Many nutrition experts believe that the minerals calcium and phosphorus are stored in our bodies for future use. If this is so, then the increased consumption of milk and dairy products of our children will improve dental conditions of future years.

All in all, an improved health concept is discernible—and that means a wider realization of dental needs.

Many ordinary habits indulged in by adults are detrimental to their teeth. Dr. Wisan will discuss these next week.

the "gang!" And the pressure from within the Troop tends to keep the boy "physically strong, mentally awake, and morally straight."

Sponsored by American Legion.

Contrary to some common opinions, Scouting is not an expensive organization. It is a saving in money through character building. The very economy advanced through uniforms and equipment, camping and out-of-door activities resulting in the growth of interest on the part of the boy in higher ideals more than offsets the cost. The boy is taught to be thrifty and industrious and earn his own equipment and make his own way in Scouting.

Men of high official connections are actively connected with Scouting. President Roosevelt acting as Honorary President, Vice President Garner serving as Honorary Vice-President, and others serving on the National Council and Advisory Committee. In our own local community the American Legion is sponsoring the Troop and solicits your support, interest and co-operation in promoting the movement among the boys. Give the boys of our community a life toward the better things in life.
